B. Calculations (show all work)

- Write out the balanced chemical equation for the precipitation reaction performed today.
- Calculate the moles of BaSO₄ collected.
- Based on the number of moles BaSO₄ collected, calculate the moles of BaCl₂ present in the original solution.
- What is the experimentally determined molarity of the BaCl₂ solution?
- Calculate the percent error (the true value will either be given by your instructor or recorded on the reagent bottle).
- Calculate the grams of BaCl₂ in the original solution starting from the moles calculated in #3 above.
- What is the experimentally determined %(m/v) of the BaCl₂ solution?
